The following dispatch came over the wire last night

Cincinnati, July 21.-The national baseball commission to-day rejected the claim of the Santa Ana, Cal., club for the services of Player Hinrichs, or for draft money from the Washington club, which signed him while a member of the Santa Ana club. The grounds for rejecting the claim are that while the Santa Ana club had applied to the national association for protection under the national agreement, the application had not been acted upon, nor had the Santa Ana players been re-signed under the national agreement contract.

Manager McAleer was mighty well pleased with the work of Doc Reisling yesterday. He has always had confidence in Reisling, and seldom hesitates about shoving in the doctor when it comes his turn to work.

Reisling certainly did himself proud. With only a couple of days' rest, after a hard nine-inning session with the Naps on Tuesday, he won his game yesterday hands down.

Walter Johnson pays Reisling a high compliment, declaring that the M. D. has shown him more of the fine points about pitching than anybody else. Reisling not only has a fair arm, but is a brainy pitcher. He is always trying to outguess the hitter or base runner, and many times gets away with it. Take in the first inning of yesterday's game. With Graney on second and Turner on first, with Larry up, Reisling stood in BENEFIT GAME TO-DAY.

St. Martin's and Twining Will Cross Bats at McDevitt's.

The St. Martin's and Twining teams will cross bats at McDevitt's Field this afternoon, and the game will have a double significance, as it will throw a light on the championship race, and is also a benefit for Hower, third baseman on the Twining outfit, who sustained a broken ligament in his leg in a game at McDevitt's Field recently. Hower is immensely popular everywhere, and the fans miss his plucky playing. The movement to have a benefit game was started by the regular patrons of the Independence League, and the officials only bowed to the popular clamor.
